Negotiating the time constraints for academic research and writing with caregiving requires innovative strategies. Discover a set of flexible, time efficient strategies and tools for writing and working that permit you to adapt to changing caregiving circumstances in the age of COVID-19. This workshop is designed for faculty, graduate students, researchers and postdoctoral fellows with caregiving responsibilities.